Some say that a good thing never ends, and Manchester students hope that the spirit of their school is one of those things. While this is Manchester's last year at its present location on Hull Street Road, everything that makes this school special will not die here. Instead of being an ending, this year turns out to be a new beginning for many things. A renewed sense of spirit spreads through the school. This spirit can be seen in the SCA where the school collected more food than ever in the adopt-a-family program. It can also be seen in the Lancer stadium where the mighty Manchester football team lead by Coach Cassem had an incredible year. Football, the SCA, and all of the other clubs and sports are received with a new sense of enthusiasm this year. Manchester's outstanding academic success is also carried through this year, as it will for years to come. Manchester will never end, wherever it goes. The memories and the spirit are always —

The senior powderpuff cheerleaders raise spirit as well as laughter with their antics. The seniors continued to prevail in the powderpuff game this year. Some things never change.

Suzie Lowman prepares herself for her role as Florence in the play The Odd Couple. The play is a spin-off from the original comedy because it involved two opposite women instead of men.

Come on all you Lancer Fans! Football fans came in bulk this year to watch their successful team. No matter the weather, Lancer supporters along with the cheerleaders brought spirit to the winning team.

Tammy Lang, Suzie Lowman, and Nicole Kimbrough act out a scene from The Odd Couple. Both the fall play and the spring play, Murder House, were big successes. The Triptych Players create original scenery and original plays.

Lancer Life Is born 2B wild

Throughout the history of Manchester, Lancer Life has changed but never stopped. Although the style of the dresses may change, we will always have the traditions of Homecoming and Prom, as well as the royal courts that go with them. Homecoming was very special this year because of the history of Manchester. The great number of alumni that attended all celebrated Manchester in its last year at this location. The memories that these alumni look back on are similar to the memories made by Manchester students this year. The Senior Class will remember beating the Juniors at Powderpuff football, and they will remember having the winning float at Homecoming. All students will look back on the pep rallies and the bonfire that boosted Lancer pride and school spirit. Yes, Manchester will relocate this fall, but the memories and the Lancer Life of the school are — to be conintued . . .

Don't you love Kenny Knust's hat? I do.

Manchester Spirit

Once again Manchester students have shown their outstanding school spirit by dressing up on various "spirit days". These days ranged from hat day to tie day. These very interesting days revealed several amazing spectacles, ranging from Patrick Rable in a suit to Clint Bagwell using one of his dads old ties and dressing up like a society man of the 1920's. Yet spirit days were not the only occasions where Manchester students demonstrated their spirit, for events such as the mock wedding were also greatly anticipated events. The wedding proved particularly successful as students had the opportunity to mingle in a much more serious setting, while learning and having a lot of fun at the same time. Yet, the greatest instances of school spirit did not occur on any of the previously mentioned days. They occurred on those non-important days when you felt like staying home and skipping, but you came in anyway. They occurred on those days when you didn't feel like studying for major tests but you did anyway. For you see, the most spirited acts occur everyday. They occur in your home and mine. WE are all the most spirited people Manchester.

He Who Laughs Last, Laughs Best!

This season has been one of success and liberation for the football program at Manchester. For over five seasons Manchester's Varsity team, going without a winning season, has been ridiculed and taunted by foes but even more damagingly by people within the student body. Yet, this year the team did the taunting and the harrassing. They, instilled with confidence from Coach Cassem, won over many fans through their dedicated play and diligent work, and they were never in better form than in their impressive showing at this year's Homecoming Game. The game featured the Lancers versus Prince George; definitely an interesting match-up. The Lancers who were enjoying their best start in recent memory were riding a wave of momentum! They used this enthusiasm to crush Prince George (48 to 20). Yet despite great personal performances by athletes such as Johnny Kendrick, Ashley Byrd, and Justin Lowe, the most important factor was the total team effort. Earl Perkins, wide-receiver, reflected that the most exhilarating feeling was the knowledge that they, the Varsity team of 1991 had won the last high-school Homecoming Game that would be played on that field. This factor is especially rewarding to senior members of the team knowing that as the last graduating class of the present Manchester they had provided the school with one great, final win that would be recorded as one of the great highlights in the history of the Manchester Football Program.

The Lancers played a great game of football.

Memories to Last a Lifetime

On October 26, 1991, students at Manchester were reminded of "how it was yesterday", "how it is today", and "how it will be tomorrow" at the homecoming dance. These thoughts ran through many minds because this will be the last year that Manchester will serve as a high school. As the student body danced to a wide range of music, others chose from a selection of refreshments that were provided. If things got a little hot on the dance floor, the teens could step outside to the courtyard, which was a brilliantly decorated setting. Even the cafeteria looked remarkably better than usual, so much so, few were reminded of "school" at all. It was decked out in blue, silver, and white streamers and stars. The two large, booming speakers most certainly had a hypnotizing effect on the couples as well. Jimmy Oliver — DJ Extrodanaire supplied a range of music including dance, rap, pop, and yes, even country was enjoyed throughout the evening. In honor of the homecoming theme, "Lancer Memories Live On" oldies were dug up and played throughout the night. A freshman said of the dance, "although I left early, I still had fun dancing to the great music."

Sadly, as most things must, the night came to an end around 11:30. Yet it left many people with happy memories that will last a lifetime. Some will look back and laugh, cry, or maybe ask themselves, "Why did I go out with that person?" Some will simply reflect and appreciate this as one of the happiest times in their lives. Indeed, Lancer memories will live on.

THE MOTHER OF ALL POWDERPUFF GAMES

The juniors had welcomed a new, innovative coaching staff and hoped this change would foster a stunning defeat over the favored Seniors.

On the other hand, the senior offense was organized quite differently. There were two quarterbacks and seven runningbacks/receivers. The stage was set. This was to be "THE MOTHER OF ALL POWDERPUFF GAMES."

The confident Juniors sent shockwaves through the seniors as they were the first to put points on the board with a touchdown run by Warrel. Yet, the disciplined seniors would not budge as they were able to march down the field and score on the following drive off of a brilliantly executed reverse by the lightining-quick Morenda Brown. Yet as the second half raged on the Seniors would widen the gap. This nail was driven into the coffin of the juniors by the superb play of the senior defense which came up with two key goal-line stances. Hail to the Seniors! Indeed, this was the "THE MOTHER OF ALL POWDERPUFF GAMES"!

MMMM . . . GOOD

The Senior Breakfast was the first Senior event where the seniors were decked out in their black and white but the last time where seniors would sit and enjoy a meal together.

The students waited patiently for the breakfast that Stephanie Goode had promised would be exquisite; in fact some had even skipped breakfast at home in anticipation of the "MOTHER OF ALL BREAKFASTS"! When the crates full of food came in, seniors encircled them like a camp of starving vultures. Stephanie proved to be a woman of her word as Seniors praised the delicious pastries. And to augment these fine cakes and danishes we had our choice of MILK and JUICE! The experience climaxed as watchful seniors caught Mr. Cox (Manchester's very own Nutritional Dudley DoRight) munching on the goodies. Yet the eating soon came to an end as the time drew high for the Senior Assembly, and the all important ALPHABETICAL LINEUP began.

The fellas were "Chillin' like villains!"

A Year Of Laughter

This year, the Manchester Triptych players presented two very funny plays. In the fall, Suzie Lowman and Nicole Kimbrough took the leads in Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple." The two very opposite people tried to adapt to live together. Interesting situations presented themselves as well as an outrageous date with the Spanish brothers Manolo and Jesus Costazuela, played by Kevin Kish and Ted Ford.

"The Murder Room" by Jack Sharkey is a mystery farse that was presented in early April. Marnie Wurtzbaugh played Mavis Hollister, a young murderous woman married to Edgar, played by Ted Ford. Edgar is "Murdered" for his money by Mavis, and, after a confusing chain of events, the audience discovers that Edgar is not actually dead but has amnesia.

The sets were designed and constructed with the help of Ted Jones. The cast and crew all worked for many weeks to present the two comedies and shared in the great success of the show.

The love sparks between Eric and Tanya are obvious as they sit on the couch conversing.

Frank Sanzone peers into the camera with a look of utmost sincerity and honesty. Eat on Frank.

The guests enjoy themselves as yet another couple marches down the aisle with glee and anticipation.

Going To The Chapel . . .

Patrick Rable is very anxious to get his hands on some more of that dip. Patrick, control yourself, okay?

The Mock Wedding for the Class of '92 had an extra special touch this year! For the first time, it left the call of nature and was held in an actual church, instead of the school courtyard. These exciting "weddings" were conducted by the Reverend Tom Dunkum. Reverend Dunkum generously offered his church and fellowship hall for this event. Five couples were married. They were: Jennifer Yates and Lyle Sutherland, Allison Withersheim and Jason Fuller, Tanya Branch and Brandon Johnson, Amanda Barrett and Glenn Dale, and Gayle Gray and Marcus Gardener.

The Best Man for Allison and Jason, Prax Kennedy, made an eloquent toast to the bride and groom, with the help of note cards, of course. Each wedding was followed by a lovely reception with refreshments, and a wedding cake for each couple.

All of this took place at the Hopewell United Methodist Church, 6200 Courthouse Road, on February 13, 1992, at 4:00 p.m.

To all the couples, many happy returns to your memories of your "first marriage". And the same to all the other wonderful people who helped make it a success!

Where's the ball?

Give it to me. I want it PLEASE!

A LESSON ON B-BALL!

The seniors got a chance to teach the faculty of Manchester a thing or two about basketball on March tenth at 7:00 PM during the Senior vs. Faculty basketball game. The Senior team won the game as predicted with a 32 to 20 victory over the adults of Manchester. Unfortunately, some of the staff got caught up in the fun and got injured. Mr. Geary twisted an ankle and was forced to sit out on the sidelines. He commented with a hint of laughter, "We slave to teach them and then they abuse us all night." Miss Gilbert was jabbed in the eye and "didn't care about the score after that." Lee Hepp guarded one of the office secretaries, Mrs. Leyo. Her speed terrified Lee, so "he was forced to hold her shirt." Even though the Seniors won, Mrs. Leyo protested that the faculty should have won. The game was all in a days work for the seniors and a workout for the faculty, depending on how you look at it.

You aren't going to get my ball!

Hmmm? Wonder if I can make it?

What? Do you want this?

Two couples decided to sit this dance out. Many enjoyed taking in the atmosphere and talking as much as dancing.

Make It Last Forever

Prom 1992 was held at the Radisson Hotel in Richmond. Under the theme of "Make it Last Forever," the Junior Class of 1993 hosted the spring formal. Couples danced to the music of DJ Jimmie Oliver. The day of the dance, May second, was a day that many Manchester students waited for. The wait was well worth it. Juniors and Seniors prepared for the dance many months before; they needed to purchase dresses, rent tuxedos, and make dinner reservations. The Radisson was beautifully decorated by a group of students. Light snacks and punch were catered.

During the dance, the Prom Prominade was held, which rewarded some outstanding Seniors for there contributions to the class. During this ceremony, the Prom King and Queen were brought out. Matt Smith was crowned King, and Toy Dickens was crowned Queen. The royal couple lead a special dance, and the excitement of the night continued.

As the night wore on, couples slowly started to leave. Some went home while others continued their night at the after-prom party sponsored by the school. Many thanks go to the Class of 1993 for raising enough money to host such a memorable Prom. It is a night that will be remembered by many forever.

Erin . . . please sit down!?!?

AFTER-PROM

This year's after prom party was a smash. Seniors continued to dance and have a good time. Students felt like powerful Las Vegas gamblers as they gambled with their play money. The festivities continued with the normal fill of practical jokes and pranks. Not only did the after prom party feature some of Manchester's finest upperclassmen, but quite a few Manchester alumni showed up as well. Excitement beamed throughout the air as students roamed from table to table looking for the greatest gambling challenge. Indeed, this party was a fitting end to a memorable day.

Some Lancers take their winnings of fake money, very serious.

After the ceremony, seniors greeted family and friends, taking hundreds of pictures.

Bethany Baptist Church proved to be an excellent location as the higharching ceiling and the beautiful walls only accented the grander of the occasion.

M.S.B.

After the Senior Breakfast, the processional began for the Senior Assembly. Pride fell into the hearts of Seniors as Faculty, underclassmen, and parents alike stood in honor of the class of 1992. In past years most seniors had considered the assembly to be a long, drawn-out bore, yet this year since they were seniors the ceremony was a special part of the year. Many seniors sat in their seats nervously, unsure if they would get awards or not. Over 30 sponsors presented scholarships and awards to Manchester's talented graduating class. Scholarships ranging from $200 to over $10,000 were awarded as the Lancers proved their worth. The annual English award went to Matthew Bailey, again. In fact Matthew received over fifteen awards and scholarships and so began the infamous chant of "MATTHEW SCOTT BAILEY . . . MATTHEW SCOTT BAILEY . . . " Unlike events at the Senior Assembly, the baccalaureate were much more sedate. Mr. Goss delivered an emotionally arousing speech filled with literary lessons and common sense advice. Mr. Goss left the seniors with hope and a strong awareness of the values of knowing and keeping . . . values.

Derek Brooks very excitedly marched to the front.

The mood was calm and solemn as Mr. Goss delivered an excellent speech.

Wayne's World

"What!? ... Twenty-three dollars ... are you kidding!?!?" became the schoolwide battlecry as Seniors prepared to buy banquet tickets. Despite the fact that some seniors found this ticket price to be a tad bit exorbitant, there was a large turnout at the 1992 senior banquet. Festivities began with the soothing play of Manchester's Jazz Band as students conversed and munched on their salads. The excitement continued as Leslie Wynn announced the winners of the priceless doorprizes. Senior Superlatives followed and were highlighted as Matt Smith announced to all upon his and Toy Dickens acceptance of cutest couple that, "we ain't fixin to have no keds!" Mrs. Easton had the honor of telling us our final bedtime story, full of political twists and turns and dirty tricks. Yet a Senior Banquet would not be complete without a magnificent harmonic rendition coming from Mr. Gary. Following his exciting song, Wayne Harris and Frank Sanzone brought the house down with their version of Saturday Night Live's WAYNE'S WORLD. The dinner and events were exciting, yet it was the people who made the 1992 Senior Banquet a success.

Clint Bagwell and Matt Aycock performed as the fabled Don Storino and the heralded Mr. Gunter!

The Senior Banquet was a hit as the seniors let down their hair and just had a good time.

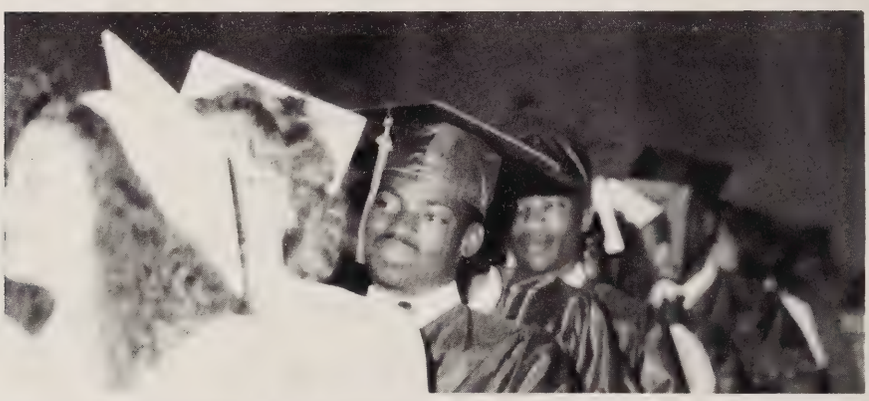
The fun continued as Mr. Gary broke out the harmonica and let it rip!

FREEDOM

The traditional graduation song now rang with a new originality. For though we had heard it many times before, it was now being played June 11, 1992 for the last graduating class of Ole' Manchester.

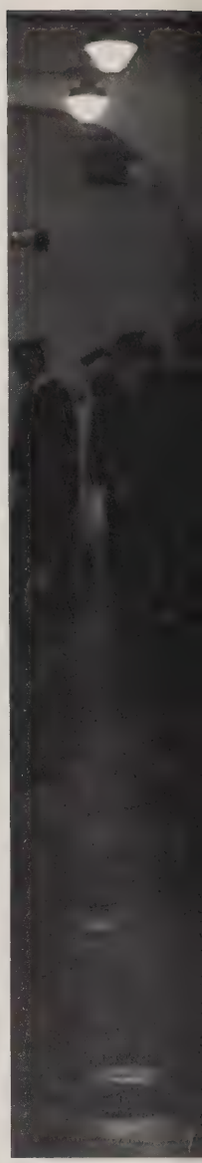
Those who had sworn not to cry, now stood with buckets of tears at their feet, and those who had spent hours in front of the mirror were nervous wrecks. For there was no adequate preparation for the ceremony that parents and students had been anticipating for the last four years. Mr. Gary's encouraging speech brought smiles to the faces and pride to the heart of excited graduates as they knew that they were only minutes from FREEDOM. The ceremony progressed rather smoothly with the exception of a few hecklers, who thinking they were still at Senior Assembly, began chanting "MATTHEW SCOTT BAILEY . . . MATTHEW SCOTT BAIL — . . . "

Soon the hecklers were not the only ones that were yelling; they were joined by proud parents, aunts, uncles, grandparents, and friends as the presentation of diplomas began. Said one Senior, "I felt like a model with all those cameras snapping in my face." Finally it was over; we were graduates with the world ahead of us and our eyes full of hope.



Stan, my man, you did it!

Mr. Barton's exquisite directing permeated through the setting at Arthur Ashe building.



Finally, graduation was here! WE were almost free.

The traditional tossing of the hat signified the end of our high school careers and the beginning of adulthood.

Students in a Geography class are absorbed in their work. Manchester's Social Studies department includes World History and Geography, U.S. and Virginia Government and History, and AP History for those who enjoy a challenge.

Academics Are 2B or not 2B

Academic achievement is extremely important at Manchester and challenges students to surpass their goals. Advanced placement (AP) classes enable students to prepare for college courses and advance further in their studies by receiving college credits. During the school year, all government classes visit the General Assembly to experience legislative processes. Choral and band students also traveled to perform statewide, and received much recognition.

There are also many dedicated students who are academically involved after school. The Debate and Forensics team worked hard this year and did extremely well at the Invitational Tournament, as well as against their tough competition all year long. After long hours of practice, the "Battle of the Brains" team also performed well against the competitors. Within the school, the Academic Trivia teams, which involved school competition, were strong this year. The success at Manchester is attributed to both the teachers and students, and it is just another major thing that is

To Be Continued.

Outstanding Teachers

The fundamental part of all school institutions, the most important part, is the teachers. With all the time and effort that they put into their daily work, they deserve every student's respect and cooperation. They have a caring and willingness to be there when the student needs assistance, make-up, and any other problems that they might experience. So why do teachers get such a bad rep? Who knows?

Mr. Gunter makes a strong effort to assist his students whenever his schedule allows. Mr. Goss even stays late just so his "walk-ins" will be able to talk to him about their concerns. Some teachers like Mr. Cox, offer study classes and questioning sessions for students who want to receive help or prepare for tests. Of course, there are times when you ask for help and the teacher thinks that he/she is helping you, but actually you are more confused than ever. The Seniors were able to feel the pressure and responsibility of a teacher on Senior Leadership Day, April 3. The Seniors were able to choose a teacher and become that teacher for that day. They realized how much it actually takes to be a teacher. Not just any teacher, but a good one was extremely difficult. Beth Lindsey was Dr. Olsen and was required to handle almost all of the managing and responsibility of the position of Assistant Principal. Natalie Evans, who was Mr. Jones also felt this responsibility. The teachers were in turn given a break, and sat back to watch the Seniors learn the daily duties of every high school teacher. The Seniors greatly enjoyed this day and thank the faculty and administration for the opportunity and cooperation.

Mr. Storino is a model English teacher for his AP English class, as well as for all of Manchester.

Mrs. Wilbourne and Mr. Smith diligently discuss the technicalities for the next deadline. Mrs. Wilbourne is not only a dedicated teacher, but also a hard-working yearbook advisor.

Mrs. Flory is in another one of her intense math sessions with her students, but she somehow is always able to keep a smile to encourage her students.

Would you ever believe Mr. Greenwood is a teacher and the Manchester tennis coach? Of course!

Counting On . . .

The phrase "When am I ever going to use this?" has been so overused when speaking of math that it could be labeled as a cliche. Yet, if you look closer you'll see that almost everything around you is based on some mathematical equation or problem. Mr. Gunter, Chairman of the Math Department, has been teaching Algebra, Trigonometry, and AP Calculus for many years at Manchester. His patience and willingness to assist his students at any point allows his students to enjoy and find pleasure in learning math. With his "cha-cha" formulas and his "puppy dog" problems, he brings in a bit of humor into his classroom. The Mathematics Department sponsored Academic Trivia was another success this year. The first place team was Sheila Fischer, Mitesh Patel, Matt Aycock, Shilpa, Mahajan. Congratulations on a great job!

Mr. Gunter is always in the computer room. Except this time it looks like he's teaching someone else.

Mrs. Nuckols' classroom during group work tend to get the job done much faster than if they were working alone.

Don't Be Disillusioned! Exclaims the poster on the math wall. Amanda Maerz decides to show off the many strange designs that math has to offer.

The class seems to be working very hard on getting all of the math notes down for class.

Brian Hoerst and Jenny Lamb are trying out another difficult experiment. Mr. Henry's AP Chemistry class is quite a trial and error.

Mr. Odell's classroom appears to be a very attentive crowd. His teaching skills in Earth Science must be great.

Mr. Frier, strutting down the halls, prepares to tackle another class.

On With Labs . . .

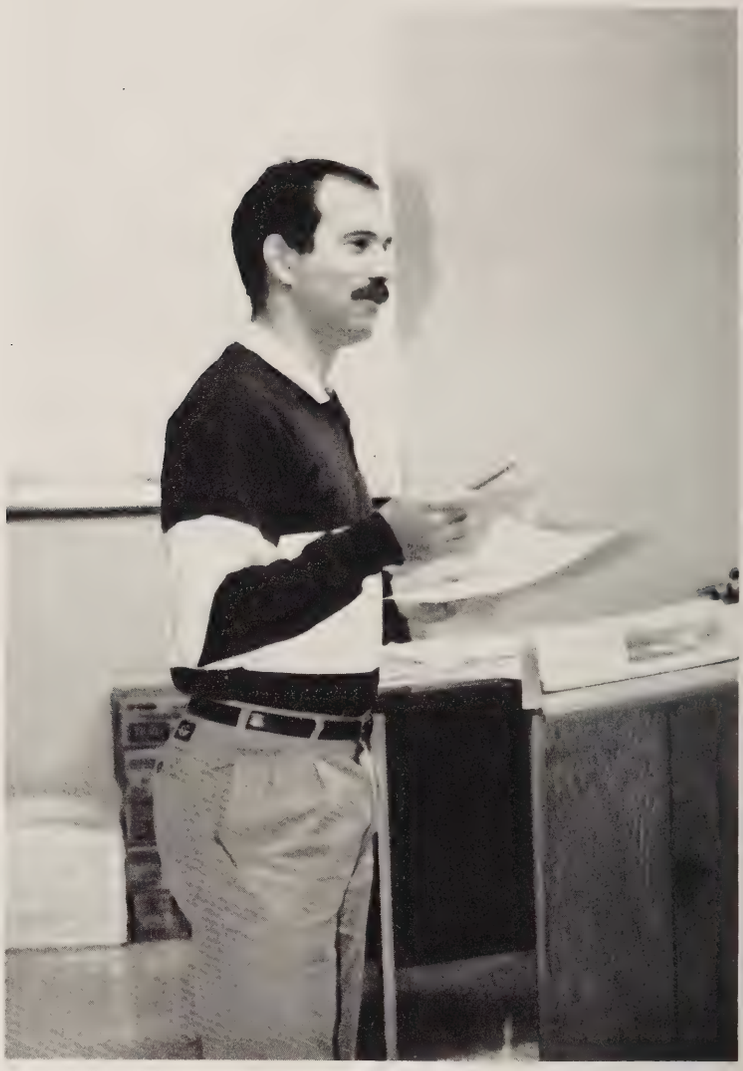
As we enter the science hall, we notice students constantly taking notes or meticulously doing labs. Mr. Frier is the physics teacher famous for the phenomena of physics being phun. Mr. Henry has been notorious this year for surprising completely new concepts during class and on tests. Ms. Wiser's AP and regular Biology classes have had a tremendous amount of enjoyment in finding out about everything from Darwin to the human body. The Science Club has been extremely active in its activities. Science Career Day was a huge success with all of the different aspects of science to have potential careers in. They had a trip to the Smithsonian and the science museum. Their trip to the Baltimore Aquarium in Maryland again allowed for the students to experience the wonders of underwater animals and creatures. Just goes to show how much science there is to learn.

As a regular tradition Mr. Henry's Chemistry class the students must do problems on the board. Many times it is not as easy as it seems.

As Mr. Henry checks the students work on the board the rest of the students appear to be listening carefully.

To Be Or Not To Be!

As we continue through the English halls, we see a world of literary splendor — a land including Shakespeare, Dickens, Emerson, and many other glorious leaders in the cause of enlightening the reading world. At first glance we look into Mr. Storino's AP English class. His ability to combine English literature with numerous anecdotes on almost anything allows his students to truly enjoy and discover the wonder of teaching and learning. Globe Works, a group of actors designed to educate its audience on the greatness and power of William Shakespeare's plays, did a superb job of amusing and entertaining the entire class body. The Debate and Forensics team concluded another victorious year. Manchester placed 1st overall in the Monocan Invitational in Debate. Tabatha Hogge and Barbara Kumpf went on to win fifth in the State Catholic League. In Forensics Denise Vu won third in Regionals and, Nilou Tamaddon went on to win sixth in the state tournament. Looking forward to another winning year!



Mr. Storino's English class before the "eye" transformation. As you can see, they are a very normal bunch.

When given the opportunity, Mr. Goss takes full advantage to grade papers. He has grade "A" quality students.

Coach Cassem uses some of his football coaching skills in the classroom.

Kevin McNair, Jay Dickerson, and Adam Cosner are doing a speech together. As you can see they're having a holly old time.

Around the World!

Walking past the foreign language rooms, we observe a whole new look of the world around us. We experience a world in German, Russian, Spanish, French, and Latin. Many seminars took place here at Manchester that increased our knowledge of the world's cultures. A gentleman from VCU came and spoke on the Russian culture. Then Mrs. Farrell spoke about her experiences in Africa, where she had travelled this summer. A new seminar format was designed by the department this year in that the students who are from the different parts of the world, conducted speeches on their culture and background. Vietnam, Iran, Panama, India, and some other nations were represented in the program. This gives the students the ability to become even more involved in learning about the world, as diverse as it is, around them. Adios!

Mrs. Hoy's class is busy working on their assignments. Some managed to look up in time for the camera.

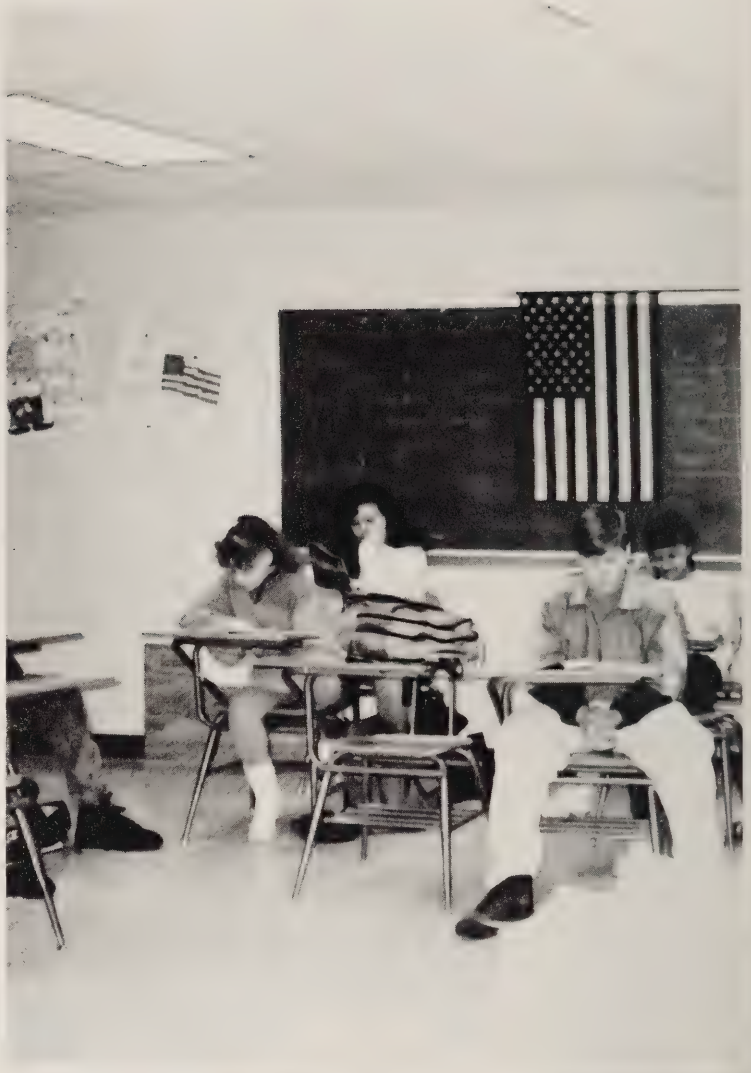
Mitesh Patel also had to do a speech for Spanish class. He seems to have the class's complete attention.

The Changed World

Continuing our journey through the academic world, we observe the social studies department studying the ancient history, geography, and government of the world. With Mr. Cox being elected to the General Assembly again for a second term, he not only loses his "freshman" identity, but he gains more experience and knowledge of how to get things through the House of Representatives. Again five students were chosen to participate in the Shadow Senators Program, which gives high school students the chance to follow a delegate or a senator around for a day to see all the activities that take place. The trip to the General Assembly was another great success. Kathy Benton stated that, "now I have more appreciation for the delegates because I have learned that it is not easy to pass a bill through both houses in order for it to become a law." As we venture into the internationality of social studies, students that were in the Model United Nations learned of world problems. But we will learn to overcome these odds of troubles in the world in hopes of a better tomorrow.



As you can see on the wall of Mr. Cox's room, you notice the many signs and the campaign items from the elections in 1991.

Mr. Cox has already begun his mock General Assembly that is designed to prepare, politically, how things work.

Mrs. Vipperman begins to write out her agenda for the week. As our days are increasingly filled with more work to do, our days are becoming increasingly shorter.

Ms. Banton and Mrs. Slonaker have a challenge between the two main subdepartments of government; geography versus government.

Fantastic Fine Arts

Manchester's Fine Arts department had an excellent year. The efforts within the art, band, chorus, and Photography departments made our school known for its grand achievements.

"Art at Manchester has improved, as well as artistic talent," Wendy Jonas proudly stated. This year Wendy's art was displayed in Bliley's office. Clint Bagwell's work was displayed at Nation's Band Art Show and at Youth Art Month Show at the Virginia Museum for fine arts. Other students had displays at the Fine Arts festival. Mrs. Mooney's art classes work with everything from clay to oil paints and have many different levels of experience. As Mrs. Mooney says, "Everyone needs Art!"

Superior ratings of grade v music are not the only great things that are happening in the band. "The program has come of age," Mr. Barton proudly states. Manchester had more students than any other school sent to All-State band. Even though the band must work hard to polish there performances, there is always room for fun!

"Chorus is kickin'!" boasts Jennifer Jennings. Capital Swing definitely proved that by winning the 1992 Grand Champion at the North Carolina Invitational and the Hampton Roads Show Choir Invitational. Girl's Show also showed there stuff with a second place win at the Hampton Roads' Competition. Madrigals and Capital Swing also swept the JMU Jazz Show Choir Festival.

"Let's keep a positive attitude!" is Mrs. Moore-Raful's philosophy for life. This year she has tried to install that into every member of Manchester's choruses. During the day, all singers try to maintain a round sound on all types of music and strive for excellence. This work paid off when all 52 singers participated in the Rotter Requiem. "Singing is an expression of how you feel," states Katherine Johnson. An expression of joy can be found on all of Manchester's singers.

"Photography is a picture of the past," stated Matt Preston. Matt, Gene Denmark and Jennifer Bokelman all had displays at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. Matt had a display at the Nation's Bank Art Show, and Gene had one at the Fine Arts Festival. Mrs. Robinson teaches the photography students as well as art classes. She says that through photography, the student is able to use his or her whole mind.

So, Manchester's Fine Arts department had an incredible year!

Wayne Harris is rarely seen on this side of a camera. He is a Photography 2 student and has had a successful year.

The Marching Band is another facet of Fine Arts which rouses team spirit at all football games.

Battle of the Brains: Back: Dale Shultz, Robert Yang (captain), Matt Aycock; Front: Kevin Kish, Sheila Fischer, Mrs. Ragu.

Kate Parker, Rachel Harkins, and Megan Woody do work in the cafeteria before school. Students who arrive early enough can have some breakfast and chat with friends in the cafeteria while they finish homework or cram for a test.

Juniors Melody Nelson, Catherine Roberts, and Cynthia Owens wait in line to receive their rings. The ring ceremony is an anticipated event by the juniors, who order their rings as Sophomores. After getting their rings, the juniors have them turned 93 times and then locked by someone special.

The atmosphere in Manchester is dependent upon the freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Their enthusiasm, complaints, sorrows, and triumphs fill the halls of the school every day. This year the Lancer spirit spread rapidly, especially for the seniors. Not only did the seniors have the best Homecoming float, but they also defeated the juniors in the competitive Powderpuff Game. The Junior Class was ready and willing to work, for they were able to raise a large amount of money this year. This enabled them to create a successful and memorable prom. The Sophomore Class was secure about their goals, and they are ready to continue their successes. For the freshmen, their first year of high school became a new experience to add into another chapter of their lives. Each individual class contributed a great deal to Manchester, but the classes together with the teachers were able to contribute something greater — Lancer spirit. The Lancers and the school spirit will succeed in attempting To Be Continued!

Senior Class Officers

The Senior class of 1992 along with their officers, brought a new flash of enthusiasm to the Manchester High School scene. Led by two time President Stephanie Goode, the class flourished. Adding to the excitement were Vice-President Matthew Bailey, Secretary Cindy Zier, Treasurer Tanya Tatum, and Historian Lesley Winn.

The final countdown to Graduation 1992 began in mid September when the officers began meeting with students for Homecoming. Their tenure ended on June 11, at the Arthur Ashe Center, as they, along with their fellow seniors, said goodbye to Manchester. These officers, with their hard work and dedication, have given the Class of '92 a memorable final year.

The End Of A Tradition

Homecoming 1992 took on a greater importance to all Manchester students, especially Seniors, considering it was to be the last held here at the Hull Street campus. Festivities began at the end of September, with the nomination of the Senior court. As usual, the Class of '92 stormed the float competition, placing first. A nostalgic air was added to the game by former Homecoming Queens and their schoolmates. Finally, the moment of truth arrived for the five young men and women who had been nominated to the court. The Queen, Stephanie Goode, and the King, Marrell Elam, showed true spirit when Mr. Jones placed the crowns on their heads. The other honored individuals were Princesses Amanda Barrett, Kelly Englisby, Beth Lindsey, and Cindy Zier. Princes included Wayne Harris, Todd Gary, Kyle Thompson, and Ben Swain.

"Make It Last Forever"

This was the fitting title of the 1992 Manchester High School Prom. The final Prom to be held while we attended the Hull Street Road Manchester was a great success. It was held at the Radisson Hotel in Downtown Richmond. Longtime couple, Toy Dickens and Matt Smith, were crowned King and Queen by an enthusiastic crowd.

With this ring . . . ? Sonya Chrichlow receives her class ring from Dr. Olsen. The long awaited day has finally arrived for Sonya and her junior friends.

In the Life of a Junior

The class of 1993 experienced many exciting events this year. Special activities such as the ring ceremony, the Powder Puff game, selection into the National Honor Society, and Prom in which only Juniors and Seniors may participate in were attended by many people. It was a year filled with new and wonderous adventures.

On September 19, 1991, the Junior Class raced into the auditorium in order to receive their long awaited class rings. Cheering and shouting could be heard from all around as people ran about asking friends and even strangers to "turn my ring." Their goal was to get to the ninety-third turn so someone special could lock their ring. The event was long in coming and met everyone's expectations.

Many junior girls tried out for Powder Puff football. The junior and senior girls battled it out on the field. Spirits soared and awkward cheerleaders bounced around on the sidelines. Although the Seniors reigned victorious, the Juniors played hard and tried their best on the brisk autumn evening. Next year as Seniors, naturally we will be the triumphant team.

The National Honor Society "tapping in" ceremony occurred and surprised many juniors. This honor requires good grades as well as active participation in extracurricular activities. Congratulations to all the members, both juniors and seniors, on their great achievements.

The Junior SCA officers worked all year in order to raise money to provide the best Prom possible. Anyone can attend Prom, but this is the first year we as Juniors have been able to invite other people to the dance. What an unforgettable time with all of the preparations for Prom and the awesome event itself. The best part is, we get to do this all again next year except the upcoming juniors will foot the bill.

The Junior Powderpuff team prepares to attack the Seniors. The Juniors played hard, but unfortunately, so did the Seniors. Next year, the class of '93 will dominate!

The hopes and dreams shared by the junior class members are shown in their Homecoming float. Good luck Juniors in achieving all of your goals so that one day you can have many fond memories, especially your Lancer memories.

A Homecoming With Style

On the weekend of October 25, 1991, the Junior Class entered into the last year of Homecoming festivities at the Hull Street location of Manchester High School. As we realized that we were going to our last Homecoming at this school, we had mixed feelings of excitement and nostalgia. For all Lancers this Homecoming was unforgettable. As a fitting end, this was the first Homecoming game that we have won in a number of years. For all juniors, Homecoming was wonderful. We looked on as our graceful princesses, Leah Hollon and Nicole Kimbrough, rode by waving as if to say goodbye. They were fittingly escorted by our class princes, Will Martindale and Ivan Squire.

Our Junior Class float, lined with other class members, rode along the field. The hard work and creativity of our class was evident on every proud face. Although the Junior float did not win the class competition, it placed honorably among the other floats. With the same dedication next year, we will surely win. The float committee members did a good job in preparing the float and had a lot of fun in the process. Thanks so much for all those involved.

The Homecoming dance itself was charming. Everyone that attended looked magnificent in their fancy dresses and suits. With the anticipation of the dance beforehand, the excitement could be felt in the cafeteria as the couples arrived. The cafeteria/dance floor was decorated with banners and balloons. The mood was divine as a variety of music played on through the night. The dance was a great success and the junior class members are looking forward to selecting the Homecoming King and Queen at next year's dance.

Our Outstanding Officers

The Junior Class officers this year were determined to make the last junior class of this Manchester High School an exciting one. Led by Ashley Byrd as President, we have reached many goals through fundraisings, organizing the ring ceremony, and engaging in competition between classes. Angela Alexander, our Vice President, was also a part of this dynamic team of officers. She worked diligently on the Junior class float, keeping the class up-to-date on school activities, and creating a sense of spirit among her peers. Sonya Worrel, class Secretary did much more than just keep the books. She rallied the Juniors together by encouraging their desire to participate in school related activities. Because of her example, we had a successful Powderpuff team, a supportive class at all pep rallies, and several outstanding athletes. However, this is not where the team stops. It also includes treasurer, Sonya Chrichlow. Being treasurer may seem like a small job, but this year it was one of the most important. She effectively managed our money and brought the Junior class to the level of Financial achievement that surpassed her job description. As a class, we have emerged successfuly from this last year at Manchester. Our elected leaders have worked diligently and have overcome several obstacles which some may have thought to be insurmountable. They have raised money by selling value checkbooks and candy, and by collecting Ukrops golden receipts. It is because of their diligence, dedication, and hardwork that we are the class we are today. Our officers contributed to the overwhelming success of Prom and to the fact that we are simply an awesome class! With them at our healm, we have had a school year that will not soon be forgotten. The great leaders of Manchester's Junior class will surely not stop here for the extraordinary leadership is TO BE CONTINUED.

Money, Money, and More Money

Okay, we are all juniors now; we have our driver's licenses, places to go, and people to see. The big problem — No Money!! Some people have jobs and keep a little cash handy, some people bum the green stuff off parents or pals, and some are happy without it.

Whenever a teenager gets a few bucks in his hands, there seems to be more things that demand that money. Do you have a girlfriend or boyfriend? It's gonna cost ya. If you have a car there's the weekly cost of gas, insurance (groan), registration, and other huge bills to pay. Where does all the money go? Having a McDonalds across the street from the school does not help much at all. There are tons of other uses for money besides the bills: Food, car and/or room accessories, hairspray for gals and that greasy hair glop for the guys, clothes, etc. What a way for the money to go. Here are some ways that our juniors make buckerooos:

1. babysitting (for less than minimum wage)
2. taking care of neighbors' pets and houses while they are away
3. working at fast food places — yummy
4. working at the mall
5. having parents pay for everything
6. living on a meager allowance
7. working at a grocery store — paper or plastic?
8. a newspaper route (?!)
9. housecleaning — people get paid for that
10. stockperson (builds muscle)

However you make money, do it honestly. Hard work pays off in the long run. At least you will learn the power of the "almighty dollar." In these tough economic times, people need as much dinero as possible. Use your money wisely or put it in the bank and save up for something bigger and better.

What's Happening in the Junior Class?

Throughout the school year Manchester High School's Junior class has shown a definite flair and style. If you walk into a typical class with juniors, you will see clothes ranging from "Cross Colors" to "Liz Claiborne." Even though money is hard to come by, juniors manage to dress themselves with "Rugby's" and "Duckheads." Students manage to bargain hunt at "Cavaliers," "Lerner's," and "Champs." However, clothes are not the only eye openers in the class this year. As you listen a little closer you will begin to hear students humming some of the latest tunes. Songs that include not only rap, rock, and heavy metal, but also country, R&B, and soft rock. We have rocked to songs that include "Things that Make You Go Hmm," "O.P.O.," "Remember the Time," "Live and Let Die," "It's So Hard to Say Goodbye to Yesterday," "2 Legit 2 Quit," "Unforgetable," "Baby, Baby," and "Everything I do, I do it for you." Then, once you have noticed the latest music try listening to the hippest slang. Junior lingo incorporates slang words that we never used as Sophomores. Terms like "Not," "Come on Lamont," "I'm not worthy," and "Stress" have influenced our language. As juniors we also keep up-to-date with the important events of our time. This year Manchester juniors partied at their first Prom and our first big Homecoming victory. We sat in front of the television to indulge in the great Olympic games, and to view the fall of communism and the Soviet Union. We finally got our class rings and missed class in the process. When you finally begin to talk to one of the members of the junior class, they may tell you some of our favorite movies for the year. We viewed movies from the total devastation of "Terminator 2" and "The Last Boyscout" to the classical cartoon "Beauty and the Beast." Other people enjoyed the thrilling chillers "The Hand that Rocks the Cradle" to "The People Under the Stairs." We also got a laugh and a bit of reality from "Juice" and "House Party 2." The Junior class of 1991-1992 is certainly a unique and varying group of people. We will not let the fun end here for the long legacy of the ever changing junior class is surely TO BE CONINTUED.

Sophomore Royalty

Homecoming was a very exciting experience for our class princes and princesses. Along with the other sophomores who attended the dance, our "royalty" enjoyed the dance. Eric Krausse and Jason Elam were our handsome princes, and Raelan Roscher along with Eisha McDowell represented our beautiful princesses. Eric found Homecoming a time to just "dance, dance, dance." Alhough he ended up broke afterwards, he still thought that "it is a place to go for a good time." Raelan thoroughly enjoyed the whole experience; it made her feel good about herself. She also thought it was fun. Eisha felt it was "fun and different." For her, Homecoming was truly an "experience." Overall, everyone agreed that Homecoming showed school spirit and was a memorable experience. The sophomore class also participated in the traditional homecoming parade. Because of the efforts from various class members, the sophomore float came in second place. The theme was "Lancer memories live on yesterday, today, and tomorrow." The class of '94 has truly been working hard to achieve their goals and show school spirit. Go sophomores!

The Sophomores' Dance

Sophomores are just not old enough yet to be invited to Prom. They are still actively fund-raising to earn money to sponsor the Prom their Junior year. So, for Sophomores, Homecoming is their dance to shine. Couples purchase tickets, then work to make sure that the guy's tie does not clash with the girl's dress. Hopefully, reservations are made for dinner at a nice restaurant. The couples then just have to finalize plans and wait for the dance. The big night comes the day after Manchester wins the Homecoming game and the Sophomore float wins second place. The afternoon is spent getting ready for the dance, discussing the upcoming night with friends on the phone, or getting a quick nap. Finally, the doorbell rings and the night out begins. Corsages are customary, and embarrassing moments while Mom and Dad hover around taking pictures are necessary. Couples spend dinner concentrating on not spilling their food on their clothes. A disaster like that would ruin the evening. Dinner is fun because everyone in the restaurant oohs and ahhs at the cute couple in their suit and dress. One Sophomore recalls a run-in in the bathroom with a lady who would not stop talking about the dress and how much she liked the sequins. If the girl can make it out of the bathroom, the night continues as the couple goes to the dance. One of the highlights of the night is to make sure no one is wearing the same dress. The night moves on with dancing and punch. Watching girls trying to hammer in their heels and dresses is always quite interesting. The couple stays until the last dance, then it is time to go home, change, and wait for the next year's homecoming night!

Cool Class Officers

Our class officers have accomplished a great deal this year. The sophomore class president, Raelan Roscher, reports that we currently have raised 1200 dollars in fruit sales. Our officers have been busy selling candy all year. The latest report about the class rings have arrived. Our rings have updated designs. They will be better than ever before. We also have a new seal for our school but the traditional principles are being kept. The Class of '94 is entrusting its fate for the prom in the hands of its officers. These officers have diligently undertaken all of their responsibilities to the best of their abilities. We are fortunate to have such young and hard-working officers to complete these important tasks. It is also amazing to know that our officers are actively participating in other extra-curricular activities. Many thanks should be given to the officers for all that they have done.

Does a Sophomore really have stress? You bet they do! Some thought things would get easier after their Freshman year. They soon discovered their error. With so much going on, a student can sometimes be pulled too hard. First on most minds, sophomores have their grades to worry about. Homework, tests and not to mention worrying about pop quizzes can take a lot out of a person, as well as take a lot of time. Interim and report card days are very stressful times, especially when a teen is expecting to go out that weekend. Another major stress is that dreaded week of exams. Six hard exams in three days is enough to really put on the pressure. But does it end there? Nope! After school comes clubs and sports. Many sports meet daily for up to two hours. Stressful times come around game time. Every Lancer wants to do his or her best! With clubs come responsibilities and activities for students. All these activities take time out of a Sophomore's afternoon, making less time to get everything else done. Another new stress added to a sophomore's life is driving. They spend their first semester in health studying driver's ed. After that comes behind the wheel. Then the fun really starts. Having the power to drive is an added freedom, but it is also an added responsibility. Safe driving is important for both the new driver and the new driver's car. Outside of school, sophomores still have to worry about family chores and some have jobs. But, despite all this stress, Sophomore Lancers always save time to have a good time and relax. Whether they go out on weekends or just gossip on the phone after school, sophomores can cope with their STRESS!

Our Ticket to Drive

Last year we were new to the school; we were freshmen. This year, however, we have a slightly higher status: the upper half of the underclassmen. As sophomores, we have better things to do than run through the halls yelling "Are you all right? Are you all right? HELP!! Call EMS!" Over the summer we had matured, and so we gratefully entered our final year of Health/PE. First semester we were lucky enough to learn what to do if our car was stuck on a train track next to a bridge and a train was coming. Yes, we had entered the Wonderful World of Driver's Education.

Everyone had been counting down the days until we could get our ticket to drive, our learners, since we were at least twelve and now the school was excusing us from class to just drive around. We all learned that driving was not as great as it seemed.

Driving is not that scary, but being put in a car with our peers and a teacher, know that we are being graded on your driving ability, can be a terrifying and unforgettable experience. From the first stressful time the Driver's Ed. Car is started, with a sound not quite a purr but more like a loon in pain, to the end of your Driver's Ed. session, all the muscles in our body tense up in fright. The driver is not the only stressed person in the car; never have I seen eyes get so wide or a man's voice so high as when my instructor kindly informed me that my turn was just a little too wide. We all have our own Driver's Ed. Horror Tale, but somehow we survived to second semester to learn the inspiring teachings of Orv.

A sophomore is a really cool person, although, according to Webster's Dictionary, a sophomore is "a wise and foolish person." Being a sophomore is better than being a freshman, and sophomores are full of school spirit with their gorgeous Homecoming float and their participation in pep rallies. People in the Class of '94 are having their first driving experiences, and they are ready to take risks. They are not freshman anymore, but they are not quite as old as most of the student body. They feel that college is too far into the future. Fortunately, because Manchester High School is moving next year, not only do the sophomores get to experience the 'old' Manchester, the class will see a more technologically advanced school. In other words, Class of '94 will experience the best of both worlds. The sophomores are anticipating the bright future that lies ahead for them because who could want only the best? Class of '94, of course.

Behind the Scenes

The Freshmen class officers were all ready to lead their class at the beginning of this year. Not only did they start early, but they also actively participated in SCA functions that were schoolwide. For this 1991-1992 year the class officers elected to successfully lead and motivate their class were: President — Melissa Doernburg, Vice-President — Minh Lam, Secretary — Sherri McCracken, Treasurer — Drew Lindsey. The time and effort put into their positions by each officer should be readily commended. This commendation should be emphasized for their great accomplishments in the area of school spirit. Even the teachers praised the spirited Freshmen class for their enthusiasm and energy. This year the Freshmen class officers organized a successful campaign for candy sales with the help and guidance of their class sponsors, Mrs. Banton and Mrs. Betts. The class also participated in the "Adopt a family" project in which there was collaboration with the Drama Club. Among the wide variety of SCA activities, the class also helped out with the MORP Dance; again in collaboration with the Senior class. After winning the competition between the classes in the spirit chain activity, the class did not stop there. With the leadership of these class officers, the Freshmen class contributed to a homeless shelter called the Good Samaritan Inn. All year the class has not cease to amaze others in their spirit and contributions. This success shall continue at the new Manchester and reveal the prominence of tradition and importance. Even Melissa believes that this spirit will continue; "This Freshmen year has been fun, and hopefully the spirit and success will carry out to the next year!"

The Freshmen float was a great success. With the help of fellow Freshmen students and the class sponsors, Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Betts, the float was a great addition to the traditional float contest at the Homecoming Game.

HOMECOMING

The Homecoming Game was a new and exciting experience for this class of 1995. The Freshmen class created a commendable float that exhibited their enthusiasm and energy. Many members of the class pitched in to build this float, as well as participate in the display. Cheering on the football team, laughing and cries of happiness could be heard. When the Freshmen princes and princesses came onto the field, the cheering continued with more enthusiasm from this class. The two couples were Dennis Stanley and Charla Coleman, and Alvin Johnson and Erin Boyles. Both couples felt honored and excited to be chosen. For a Freshmen this experience can have a big impact on his or her life. Charla Coleman was very modest about the announcement and said "I felt honored because there were alot of people nominated and I didn't think I would be chosen." For this particular Freshmen class, this was a very memorable event because the Homecoming Game was the last one to be played on this particular field before the relocation of Manchester High School. Students were able to see the Manchester football team become triumphant on this field. Following the evening, a Homecoming Dance was held the next night. This was a great way to relax and enjoy the music before starting school again. The annual Homecoming Game and Homecoming Dance are symbols of excellence and tradition. These Freshmen memories of Homecoming will not be forgotten, yet in a sense continue in a tradition of memories to the new Manchester.

Is that your new school outfit for the first day of high school, Mike Jones?

A Beginning to Continue

Starting out on the first day of high school was extremely hard for many students. Among the crowded halls lie the Freshmen class scattered in different sections of the building. It was hard for the Freshmen to find classes, as well as remember the locations of their classes. Yet later on in the year, this became much easier. Freshmen complained about the complicated gym and hall lockers, the homework, and even the intricacies of the halls, but all this changed as the year progressed. As each person compared schedules with friends, hoping to share a lunch period with someone familiar, teachers explained class procedures and objectives. Freshmen listened intently and kept an eye on the clock to familiarize themselves with the times of each class period. It did seem intimidating to be smaller and confused about the room numbers, especially that mysterious round building. This feeling of anxiety decreased as the day continued. This class of 1995 was ahead of the game. Finding classes, meeting new people, and retelling experiences from the past summer were all a part of this first day at Manchester. At the end of the day, many were exhausted, but excited about the next day. Some related their experiences to the McDonald's commercial and wanted to know "Do we have to go back?" All in all, things became much easier and students were ready to challenge themselves with the obstacles that were ahead. Yet, many still ask if they will become Freshmen again, roaming the confusing halls of the new Manchester High School next year.

Spirit, Spirit, Spirit!

The Freshmen class is definitely not in a lack of spirit. As a matter of fact, they have been commended several times for their active participation and enthusiastic spirit. During the spirit chain competition, the Freshmen took first place for the most number of spirit links. Each member has contributed in some way to the class. The class officers did an amazing job in motivating everyone to participate. At the pep rallies, ardent Freshmen students cheered, shouted, and just had fun while exhibiting their everlasting amount of spirit. Still not convinced about the Freshmen spirit? During the Spirit Week of the Homecoming Game, many participated in the wide variety of activities that the SCA had planned. These included hat and tie die, as well as twin day. The participation from the Freshmen class during this week was phenomenal. Spirit is important in the motivation within a school. Without this extra support, that extra effort will be harder to exhibit. The Freshmen class showed their spirit throughout the year to support activities, sports and other functions. Spirit was also exhibited through the participation in different clubs and sports. This was the first year for Freshmen to join clubs and tryout for sports. Participation was extremely active for these students. Spirit is extremely important for many circumstances. The Freshmen class has exhibited much spirit during this year which will be a good model for following classes.

EXAM STRESS

End of the semester exam stress has hit the Freshmen class. For the first time exams have added yet another load for these students. With six classes to study for and so little time to prepare, Freshmen experience a real high school dilemma. Staying up late with plenty of caffeine, these students hurry to school to cram an extra twenty minutes before the first exam of the day begins. Newly sharpened pencils, a fresh pack of paper, and confused minds are all a part of this nerve-wrecking experience. Checking the time, students hurry to complete the essay question or the fifty questions left on the exam in the last ten minutes of the time period. These Freshmen are not alone, for many other students must go through this same process each year. At the end of the exam testing, each Freshmen dreams of the day when he or she can get the opportunity to be exempt from exams as a Senior. The exam testing seems to never end. Once over students can relax and catch up on all the sleep missed during that exam week. Just think, another two or three more years of high school exams! This traditional experience of anxiety, mental frustration, and exhaustion is just another one of the many experiencess that Freshmen encounter in their school year. It is a tradition that continues and shall be continued at Manchester High School.

Teacher of the Year

This year we are proud to recognize Ms. Frances Harris as the 1991-92 Teacher of the Year. Ms. Harris has been teaching at schools in North Carolina and Virginia for 23 years. This is her sixteenth year of teaching business courses here at Manchester high school. She is actively involved in many organizations, including sponsoring Future Business Leaders of America and participating on the Principal Leadership Council. Other than being recognized here at Manchester, Ms. Harris has received many awards. She was the recipient of the Excellence in Teaching award for Vocational Leadership in 1990 and the Teacher of the Year award from the Chesterfield Ruritan Club for 1990-91.

What influenced her to choose a profession in education? Ms. Harris expresses it this way: "As far back as I can remember, I felt destined to be a teacher. I never thought about being anything else!" Not only has she fulfilled her destiny, she has had great success in doing so. She believes that "education is a vast magnitude touching the lives of every American." Her ongoing goal is to touch every students' life.

Principal Jones shows his support and spirit towards the school by attending all of the games and by wearing his Manchester letter jacket.

Singing Teachers

For the students who are in chorus, Mrs. Susan Wood and Mrs. Robin Moore-Raful are seen as two extremely special people. Many people do not realize the amount of work these women really do. Teaching students the correct tone quality and blend is essential, not to mention the choreography that may be involved. Choral students feel that these teachers are their friends, so they sometimes end up giving advise to their students about personal problems. It is important for both of them to retain a positive attitude.

Besides teaching during the school day, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Moore-Raful have many other responsibilities. Mrs. Wood was Choral Festival Chairman, a job which required her to plan a competition where local high school choruses were judged. Mrs. Moore-Raful was All District III Chorus Chairman. She organized a concert for 450 local singers.

Together, the teachers work to provide opportunities for their students to perform. For the Fall concert, the combined choruses sing the Requiem in a church. They also hold a Holiday and Spring Concert. They send their top choruses into competitions throughout the state and sometimes out of state. At the North Carolina Show Choir Invitational, Hampton Roads Show Choir Invitational, and the JMU competition, the top awards were won. Manchester holds the Central Virginia Show Choir Invitational, and a Madrigal Dinner. The hard work that these two outstanding teachers put in surely has paid off!

Our Sports Are
2 good 2B true

Success must be a universal goal for every Lancer at Manchester because each team triumphed in victory. Through hard work and dedication, the Lancers have risen to the top. This year the football team coached by Roger Cassem, has strived to an ultimate superiority. Not only did they win the Homecoming Game, but they also continued to triumph throughout the entire season. The Lancers have a great advantage over their opponents — they work together as a team. Teamwork is a necessity in all aspects of sports. From the baseball team to the track team, the Lancers and the Manchester supporters definitely do not have a lack of spirit. With these winning combinations, further success is 2 B Continued . . .

After the Homecoming Game, we knew we could do anything if we played together as a TEAM!

Baseball

The baseball teams this season seemed to exceed all expectations. The team members, coaches, and assistants were all overachievers. The theme for the year seemed to be "lacing up a good year for the last time on Hull Street." The teams played hard for the last year at the Hull location and were extremely successful. It was the first time in eighteen years that the baseball team made the playoffs. Coach Hall commented that the "season was a lot of fun because we learned how to play the way we're supposed to play — 100%!" With Johnny Kendrick, Ben Swain, and Joey Mills as the team's great offensive players, and Chris Duncan's excellent pitching talent the baseball team gained victory. The season resulted in the overall record of 8-9-1 and a district record of 7-6-1. In the district tournament the team placed fourth of all the teams. Even though the team was defeated in the first round of the tournament by Dinwiddie, Dinwiddie ended up becoming the district champions. The score was 21, and playing against the hardest team did not help much. The biggest game was the win of Thomas Dale which ended up tied for first in the playoffs. The season was a triumph for the teams.

Our Runners

The Boys and Girls Cross Country teams had an excellent year with an over-all record of 6-1 for the boys team, and an undefeated 5-0 record for the girls. They participated in many meets this year such as the County, Region, and District meets in which the girls cross-country took first place and the boys took second. They also participated in the Western Albermarle meet in which the girls once again took first and the boys took second.

The Indoor Track teams once again had an exceptional year. The girls team took first places in the District and Regional meets. At Regionals, Heather Costello and Nicole Kimbrough did excellent jobs in the 1000 meter dash and the 55 meter dash. The girls track team also came in sixth place in the state meet. The boys team placed 14th in the region and second in the district meet.

Golf, Track & Field

The Golf and Track & Field teams had a great season this year. It was the first time that both the Girls' and Boys' track teams placed first in the district. The Boys' team placed sixth in the region, while the Girls' team placed eighth. Heather Costello even placed sixth in the mile in the state meet. There were eleven school records set, continuing to break old ones. In the Midlo. Relays, the boys placed second and the girls placed sixth. Astrid Rogers was recognized as Outstanding Female, Jason Elam as Most Outstanding Runner, and Charles Bass as Top Performer. Congratulations to all teams!

Field Hockey

This year was a year of "rebuilding" for the girl's J.V. and Varsity field hockey teams. Ms. Wallmeyer, the Varsity coach, said the team "lost eight out of eleven starters from last year." That meant she had to train a lot of new players this year. She also had to develop the skills of both her beginning players and her returning players. The loss of last year's players affected both the J.V. and Varsity teams. Since all of the players were necessary, no one "sat on the bench." Everyone got more playing time, which was a benefit according to Ms. Wallmeyer. "Playing in the game is the best practice", she stated. The decrease in the number of players "put a lot of pressure on the starters from last year." Those starters were Janet Bergeron, Stephanie Goode, and Cindy Zier.

Both Coach Wallmeyer and Coach Chaconas saw improvement throughout the season as well as a lot of enthusiasm on the part of the players. All members of the field hockey team had to take on "a much larger leadership position" this year as compared to previous years. "It's always nice to see kids make such great improvements and developments."

We've Come A Long Way

"This year's team was the team that turned it around" is what Ashley Byrd said to describe the Manchester Lancer football team this season. The team came a long way from the 2-8 record last year to the 7-3 record of this year. "The fruits of our labors manifested themselves in the form of victories," says Varsity Head Coach Roger Cassem. The team won the Homecoming Game against Prince George with a 48-20 score, and a 17-7 over Dinwiddie, a playoff team. The team's victory was due to the determination and teamwork of the Lancers. Some of the stars of the team were, Quarterback Johnny Kendrick, who received the Most Valuable Player Award, Captains Justin Lowe and Anthony Elliot, plus Ashley Byrd, Justin Lowe, Stephen Janucik, and Matt Smith received All District honors. The spirit within the school could be seen through the filled stands as the fellow Lancers cheered the team on. Many Lancers could be seen acting crazy to the favorite cheer "Do It." The Junior Varsity team did excellent with a 7-2 record, and shows a lot of promise for the future year. This season was the last to be played in the Lancer Stadium, but the Lancers will continue to succeed at the new stadium. How about those Lancers!

Hermitage 1-2-1

Boys' Soccer

The Boys' Varsity and Junior Varsity has had an excellent year. It has been the best Manchester has ever had. The overall record for the JV team was 7-5-3, but even more impressive, the Varsity team had an overall score of 15-1. The captains of the Varsity team were three seniors, Jake Harper, Steven Janucik, and Demus Oxford. Brian Crocker was an outstanding player on the team because he made 23 goals during the season. There were also the other members of the team that should be recognized for their outstanding performances: Junior — Mark Baltz, Freshman — Ryan Krausse, Drew Lindsey, Sterling Hoy, Damian Brink, and Deryk Shockley. Deryk is the first Manchester student to represent the U.S. team. In the semi-finals against Colonial Heights, the Lancers won with a 3-0 score. In the finals against Prince George the Lancers also won with the score of 2-1. Yet, the team lost in the regionals against Monacan with the score of 2-3. All the triumphs this year of the Boys' Soccer team are overwhelming. The coach predicts an excellent season next year at the new school, and hopefully the success is 2B continued.

Girls' Soccer

The Varsity and Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer teams were extremely successful this year. One of the varsity team members believed the success was a result of "motivation and the usage of the 'lean on me' team motto." These girls could be seen wearing their 'lean on me' shirts as a motivating factor before games. With this energy and determination to succeed, the girls' soccer team achieved success after success. For the first time in so many years, the team made it to the states. This seemed to be a whole new triumph all in itself. In the regional quarter finals against Atlee, the varsity team won with a 3-0 score. In the semi-finals against Monacan the score was 3-0. The regional finals against Clover Hill resulted in a 0-2 score, and in the quarter final states game against Braddock, the score was 0-10. Altogether, it was a successful year for the varsity team with their 12-7 overall score. The outstanding players for the year were Cindy Zier, Tina Tsironis, Stephanie Goode, and Traci Hardesty. This success is 2B continued.

Softball

With hard work and much dedication anyone can succeed. The softball team this year has succeeded in spirit, talent, participation, motivation, and dedication. Each player made a difference to the team. There were some outstanding players this year have been recognized by their coaches. One of these players was Kara Arceneaux who won first in the all district games. Michelle Call and Leanne Blake were recognized as the Most Valuable Players this year along with Kara. This is a distinguished honor for those recognized. There were also three captains for this year's team. They were Michelle Call, Kara Arceneaux, and Deitra Bolton. With their leadership capabilities, the team had an exciting year. Hopefully, this success will continue next year to strive and grow at the new Manchester.

Tennis

The Girls' Tennis team tryouts began even before school started. Each girl had to challenge other girls on the team which was chosen by the coach, Coach Greenwood. The first game began at the beginning of the school year when the school was in session. The team had a very successful year. There were several returning seniors to the court and many new members also. The talent exhibited from the team included many outstanding players like Jackie Cambell and Mimi Tran. The teamwork and practice involved shows the determination of the team. This was also true for the Boys' Tennis team. They had an overall record of nine wins and six losses. One of their biggest triumphs this season was being tied for first place in the District Tournaments. This is indeed a superior honor. The outstanding players for the team were Brian Smith, Ho Kim, Anthony Tedesco, Mitch Early, Mike Jones, Craig Kostiuk, and Mark Hessian. It has been a successful year for both the Girls' and Boys' Tennis teams.

Wrestling

Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity wrestling teams did an excellent job this year. Manchester's Varsity team had an overall record of 8-12 for the 1991-1992 season and placed fifth in the District and twelfth in the Region. In the District meet Marrell Elam placed first, Herman Wilson placed third, Jeff Smith placed second, and Jimmy Byerly placed second. The team continued in the Region meet for Marrell Elam placed first, Herman Wilson placed second, and Jeff Smith placed fifth. Marrell Elam moved into the State AAA Tournament and returned with second place as well as breaking most of Manchester's school records in wrestling. The Junior Varsity wrestling team also worked extremely hard this year. The competition was challenging, but they managed to achieve an overall record of 5-4 for the season. Coach Munroe worked with the wrestling teams and contributed greatly to their success. With the support of the Lancers and the managers of the teams, the season was very rewarding. Congratulations to the wrestling team and good luck to another successful season!

Cheerleading

If you walk up to any Manchester High School student and ask him or her to name a sport, a common answer would probably be football, baseball, basketball or soccer. These, however, are just a few of the sports that we have here at Manchester. We also have wrestling, golf, tennis and track, but there is one sport that is very rarely recognized as a sport; cheerleading. Most cheerleaders are stereotyped as girls who can't do anything except shout out guys' names. This, however is a far cry from the real cheerleaders. Manchester cheerleaders encourage our teams and get the crowds enthusiastic. The cheerleaders practice hard and spend countless hours on things such as spirit banners. Without the enthusiasm of these girls our pep rallies would not be very exciting. The Manchester cheerleaders deserve appreciation for everything that they do to better our school.

The Latin club is just one of the many clubs that participated in the Homecoming parade. These Latin students had a fun night shouting, "Veni, vidi, vici!"

The Drama Club helps put on two plays a year besides participating in many other activities. Nicole Kimbrough starred in the Fall play which was a female version of The Odd Couple.

The Spanish Club rallied up spirit and enthusiasm for the Homecoming parade. Even though Tonya Tatum had some great dances, the SADD float won the parade.

MHS Clubs are 2B remembered

Manchester clubs are an essential part of a student's life. There are more than thirty clubs that help students to develop their talents and cooperate together. This year the SCA sponsored the Thanksgiving and Christmas Drives within the school. The success was tremendous because the amount of items contributed was able to provide for more families than expected. Those students sharing interests in the area of foreign languages can join in on the various activities of the foreign language clubs. Many of the clubs like the science club, P.E.A.C.E., and S.A.D.D. help to make impacts on the future. There are yet other clubs including FBLA, FHA, VICA, and DECA that focuses on the vast amount of careers that can be pursued after high school. Students can join the newspaper or yearbook staff and receive on-hands experience on publishing, editing, writing, and selecting various elements that are widespread. There are also other special clubs that honor those individuals for success and achievements. The variety and immense participation in these Manchester clubs are basic elements that make Manchester unique.

S.C.A. and N.H.S.

The SCA has been very busy this year. They held the annual Homecoming Dance that everyone enjoyed. This year Homecoming was especially festive due to the talent of our winning football team. SCA led by Natalie Evans, had the Thanksgiving and Christmas food drives which was incredibly successful. Through the efforts of the SCA and the Christmas Mother program, many children received presents on Christmas morning who otherwise wouldn't have gotten anything. Couples were formed through SCA's data match and students went into sugar shock from the SCA candy sale but much money was raised. Manchester's students donated blood through the SCA blood drive. During Teacher Appreciation Week, teacher's windshields were cleaned and sponsors received carnations. At the SCA awards assembly, Manchester students were honored for their achievements and accomplishments. The SCA also organized competitions among clubs and classes based on a point system. One of the activities of this competition was the Tug of War. A new advisor, Mrs. Johnson, kept things running smoothly. Student representatives put in many hours after school as well as skipping their second period class every month to accomplish all the things they did this year. At the SCA Assembly, Natalie Evans, as President, Beth Lindsay as Vice President, Nicole Kimbrough as Secretary, Crystal Haynes as Treasurer, and Carley Lovell as Reporter/Historian all turned over their offices to the new people. These officers did an excellent job and will be greatly missed. The Student Cooperative Association is represented by five members of each class as well as the vice presidents of each club. Anyone may attend the SCA meetings though because the Student Cooperative Association is the student body.

Once again, the National Honors Society started their year with the annual "tapping in" ceremony of the new members. The entire auditorium was filled with Juniors and Seniors anxiously waiting to see who would be the next candidates to be honored. Those who are chosen show great scholarship, leadership, service, and character qualities which are promoted by the organization. The Society participates in many activities throughout the year that help the school and the community. They were active in the food drives in November and December. Within the school, they participated in the SCA candy sale. To end the year they had a reception to initiate the new officers and recognize the seniors with the handing out their pendants.

The officers this year, (President, Matthew Bailey; Vice-president, Beth Lindsay, Secretary, Stephanie Goode; and Reporter/Historian, Janet Bergeron;) all helped to encourage the members to uphold the standards of the society. To be a member, a student must have a minimum cumulative scholastic average of 3.6, and be an active member with two activities in the school. The students who strive for this always remember the special honors they receive.

Blast from the Past — History Club!

Manchester High School is the proud sponsor of a very active History Club. The History Club is a departmental organization sponsored by Mrs. Vipperman. It provides an opportunity for interested students to take advantage of some of the many, varied events that exist around the Richmond area for their education and pleasure. For example, this year the History Club took field trips to such interesting locations as Hollywood Cemetery and Agecroft Hall. The History Club also sponsors sever historical period dress-up days at va ious times of the year. For its fund-rai ers, the History Club participates several activities. In addition to the a nual SCA candy sales, the History Clu also sponsors the annual 50's-60's So Hop. This fun activity features perio music, games, and food. This is just or example of how the History Club is fu and exciting for all involved.

Brush and Canvas — The Art Club!

This year the Art Club has accomplished much under the direction of its sponsor, Mrs. Lynn Mooney, and its president, senior Jennifer Kuhns. The Art Club's main purpose is to further art education for interested students at Manchester High School. They accomplished this through many special opportunities such as guest speakers and field trips. Several highlights of this year included a visit to the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts and a lecture by a prestigious glass-jewelry maker. The club also serves as a unique service organization, providing a scholarship for artistically talented youth as well as helping to defray the cost of art supplies to students through their fundraising. This year the Art Club participated in two fund-raisers: the annual poster sale as well as the St. Patrick's Day carnation sale. The Art Club also donates a substantial amount of time, effort, and goods towards the annual Adopt-a-Family program. They supplied food, clothes, and toys for a needy Richmond-area family over the holidays. The Art Club is a vital and important part of Manchester High School that is fun for teachers and students alike.

P.E.A.C.E., Science Club, and S.A.D.D.

This year, Manchester's Ecology Club, P.E.A.C.E., (Please Encourage A Clean Environment) continued to promote their environmental awareness to the school. Everything they participated in revolves around their motto: "Reduce, Reuse, Recycle." To start off the year they participated in the Homecoming Parade and placed second place for their originality on a "environmentally safe float." During November and December the club ran coat drives to help find clothing for homeless people. Outside the school, the club went hiking at York River State Park to help reroute a nature trail, they visited nursing homes for Easter, and went hiking at Crab Tree Falls in May. The club also collects white paper once a month from the classrooms. Their enormous recycling efforts have also let them gain a recycling bin located in the faculty parking lot. The officers who made this year a success are President, Michele Armstrong; Vice-president, Laura Kenney; Secretary, Alice Chan; Treasurer, Emily Lehr; and Reporter/Historian, Heather Jones.

The Manchester Science Club has once again explored the world of science by their many field trips. This year they went to the Washington Zoo, the Science Museum in Richmond, and to the Aquarium in Baltimore. The Science club also sponsors career day to science students in May. Aside from their scientific ventures, they also participated in the SCA food drives in November and December.

The S.A.D.D. club has again promoted the students of Manchester not to drink and drive. This year the members sold blow pops and had an adopted family during winter holidays. When Prom season came around, S.A.D.D. was right out there making people aware. A week before Prom, the club had "S.A.D.D. Week" where the members would do something everyday to catch the attention of the students on the dangers of drinking and driving. The most realistic thing they do is "die" day were a member of the club "dies" every five minutes to represent an alcohol related accident. The officers who have kept up with the Club's philosophy are president, Leanna McCoy, vice-president, Erica Drumheller; secretary, Nilou Tammadon; treasurer, Chrissie Moore; and reporter/historian, Micki McCoy.

The Future Homemakers of America or FHA had many activities this year. They participated in the food drive and Adopt-A-Family for Christmas and Thanksgiving. They also organized the annual cake bake-off and the Save a Sweetheart campaign, a program to prevent smoking.

FBLA or Future Business Leaders of America went to regional and state conferences where Mitesh Patel was named Mr. FBLA. FBLA sold candy bars to raise money for Project ASK, a program about childhood cancer.

DECA or the Distributive Education Club of America sponsored the coat drive and kept many people warm over the winter. DECA also organized the senior v. faculty basketball game which was enjoyed by all. Vocational Industrial Clubs of Amer ica or VICA go on man field trips and conference related to industry. All o these clubs work hard t benefit the community an should be commended.

Foreign Language Fun

Foreign language clubs have been busy this year. All of them participated in the Adopt-A-Family program and the SCA candy sale. The Spanish Club this year was huge, and it had Mark Patel as its president. The club sold blow pops and went to dinner many times at various Mexican restaurants. For Valentine's Day, the Spanish Club sent valentines to people in a retirement home. Mark was proud of all that the Spanish club did and the amount of participation of all ninety people. The French Club was led by Denise Vu. Members sold French lollipops and held French Trivia competitions. Members also sold French tee shirts and held a French banquet, Denise Vu said, "The French club gives students a chance to experience French culture without having to worry about the language. The Latin club with Candace Jones as its president held numerous parties, went out to dinner, and attended the state Latin convention in which every delegate came back with an award. Allison and Amy Marsh attended the National Latin Convention, and Allison Marsh was ranked fifth overall in the nation for Latin. At the end of the year, a toga party was held. With technology and communication becoming more advanced the world becoming smaller, knowing a foreign language has become vital. Manchester's foreign language clubs make learning a foreign language fun.

M.H.S. BANDS

Manchester's band had a very exciting year with many great performances and achievements. The concert and symphonic bands combined worked with diligence on their many pieces of music. In the Festival this year, the band received a Superior Rating of one for all their hard work and effort. They also performed one of the longest shows of all the bands. The band also participated in many competitions in different regions and did well.

Seventeen people represented Manchester at all district band tryouts. Dong Han and Robert Cho were the two people who qualified for All State band. Manchester had the highest member representation for All District and All County tryouts. It was a great honor to have so many members represent our school.

Once again, the Jazz Band had an excellent year. Their music was a favorite to everyone during assemblies and during their competitions. The annual Cabaret dinner dance held by the Jazz Band was a great success also. The Cafeteria was changed into a delightful evening of casual dining with the accompaniment of the Jazz Band.

Kicking Some Brass

The Manchester High School Marching Lancers began the year with a fresh new sound and a dazzling new show. This year, the band's sixth under the direction of Mr. Barton, the focus of the halftime show was on the wonderful world of Disney. Such tunes as "Its a Small World After All" and the theme to Dances with Wolves turned out to be great crowd-pleasers. They were also fun for the band to play. As Mr. Barton elaborated, "It was an entertaining and challenging show." Another remarkable facet of this year's half-time show was its incredible length and difficulty. As Mr. Barton said, "It was probably the longest, most difficult show ever attempted. But we did it!!" This year can be described in two words: hard work for the Marching Lancers. They never stopped working or trying to improve the show even when they didn't get the results that they'd hoped for. Mr. Barton puts it best when he said, "The credit to the group was that they never stopped working!"

There were several highlights to this year's Marching Band competitive season. This year's first competition, the Hermitage Band Classic, garnered the Lancers a third place overall showing as well as a first place Drum Major award. The Lancer's winning streak continued at the Trojan Invitational Tournament, where the drum line received a 2nd place trophy. The Marching Band also attempted another first this year — two competitions in one day. The first competition was the Virginia Band and Orchestra Director's Association, or VBODA, festival in which the Lancers were rated excellent in both Band and Auxiliary categories. The second competition of the day was the Powhatan Evening Classic, where the Lancers received a 3rd place band and 2nd place auxiliary awards. The final band competition of the year was the 1991 Eastern North Carolina Band Festival in Roanoke Rapids, N.C. Here the Lancers won an overall rating of Excellent and took home the coveted 1st place majorettes trophy. Overall, the marching band season was a spectacular triumph. They hope to continue the success next year as they try a new, shorter show focusing on the American jazz tradition.

M.H.S. CHOIR

The Girl's Show Choir, Madrigals, and Capital Swing groups were all a tremendous success this year. The vocal and Choreographic talents won them all their competitions that they attended. Girls' Show were first runnerup at competitions held in Hampton and became the first all girl group to become champions on the east coast. Madrigals received first place at James Madison University right under Capital Swing who swept the show and were the grand champions. Capital Swing also were the grand champions at Kecoughtan. Congratulations to all the members on a job well done this year.

All the choral groups had a great and successful year. All the members practiced long and hard to make each of their pieces just "perfect." Their abilities came shining through during the assemblies and concerts. The Mixed Chorus is composed mostly of ninth graders or students in their first year of chorus at Manchester.

The Lance singers is another choral group. Occasionally they perform with the Mixed Chorus. The Lance Singers can be composed of both guys and girls. However, it was an all girl group this year.

The Girls' Chorus is strictly composed of girls. This Choir is open to any girl in any grade. Each of these groups have done a terrific job in this final year of The Old Manchester. Hope they keep up the good work and continue to delight us with their music.

Ms. Moore-Raful is jamming away on her piano.

Where is she running off to?

Drama Club

Once again Drama Club began with the annual initiation party and scavenger hunt in which everyone dressed up in costume. The Drama Club put on both the Spring and the Fall Play. The Fall Play was the female version of the Odd Couple, and the audience laughed at Suzie Lowman and Nicole Kimbrough's antics and were amazed by Kevin Kish and Ted Ford's Mexican accents. In the Spring Play, The Murder Room, Suzie, Kevin, Ted, and Marnie once again had roles as did Eric Krause and Tat Tatum. In this play students spoke in British accents in a murder farce with a surprise twist ending. The End of the Year Banquet for this club was lots of fun with plenty of food, superlatives, and gifts from Last Will and Testaments.

Marnie poses in The Odd Couple.

Lancer Dancers

The Lancer Dancers had another great year. These students who love to dance were sponsored by Ms. Likins, who organized the auditions. After hours of practice, the Lancer Dancers perform at football and basketball games. Their energy and enthusiasm as well as elaborate dance routines entertained the crowds. Sandy Jimmerson and Stephanie Neubert led these girls as their captain and co-captain. The Lancer Dancers are a relatively new club, but they are sure to be around for a long time. These girls are managed by Tammy Agee and Diane Shiflet. This is Diane's second time managing the Lancer Dancers. These bright Lancer Dancers are always full of smiles.

Writer's Guild, Newspaper, and Quill and Scroll

Writer's Guild is the newest of our clubs. This new club was founded this year and is sponsored by Mrs. Walmsley. Writer's Guild is composed of five council members also known as officers. The council members this year were Jade Wardell, Wendy Jonas, Noel Williams, Angela Skubon, and Jenny May.

The goal for the creation of this club is to "incorporate creative writing in the student life of Manchester," says Wendy Jonas. The club does many things during the year that relate to reading and writing. They hold many workshops with guest speakers like poets Ellen Johnson Hale, and John Moss. They also hold Round Table Meetings where they share different writings. Next year they plan to come out with their own literary magazine.

The Newspaper is commonly known as the "Communique" in our school. Every other month issues of the Communique can be found floating around the school with the latest news and gossip. The staff is composed of students in Mrs. Young's Journalism class. They keep our school well informed and are always giving away coupons for Movie Time. The Newspaper ended this year with their annual handing out of Newspapers to the Seniors at the Senior Assembly.

Quill and Scroll had another exciting year in honoring students in their achievements in journalism. This year, five more students were inducted into the club. Quill and Scroll is a National Honor Society for Journalism. In order to become a member, one must excel in the community, possess leadership qualities, maintain a 3.5 grade point average, and show an excellence in writing and working hard in everything they do.

Yearbook

This year the Memoir staff was especially dedicated. Many hours were put into making the last yearbook of the Hull Street Manchester the best ever. Ads were sold to local businesses to raise money for the Memoir, and staff members bought shirts with the yearbook theme of "To Be Continued" from Manchester students Jakie Dewell and John Hopkins, who have their own tye-dye company.

The editors-in-chief Barbara Kumpf and Alison Chiu have done an amazing job, and without them there would be no yearbook. Special thanks must also go to the most supportive and helpful advisor Mrs. Wilborne. Recognition to the section editors on the staff goes to Kate Henson and Shon Jones on Lancer Life, Laura Wimmer and Erica Miller on Sports, Nilou Tamaddon and Paul Vu on Academics, Amy Marsh and Alice Chan for Clubs, Allison Marsh and Shilpa Mahajon on Sophomores, Nicole Boone and Jade Waddell on Juniors, Jen Creger and Kalpana Shenoy on Seniors, Janet Marsh and Alexis Atwood for Faculty, and Molly Kent as head photographer. Much time and effort has been put in by all of these people to make the 1992 yearbook a treasured keepsake that can be referred to again and again. Thanks for a great year.

Alice is busily working on her layout.

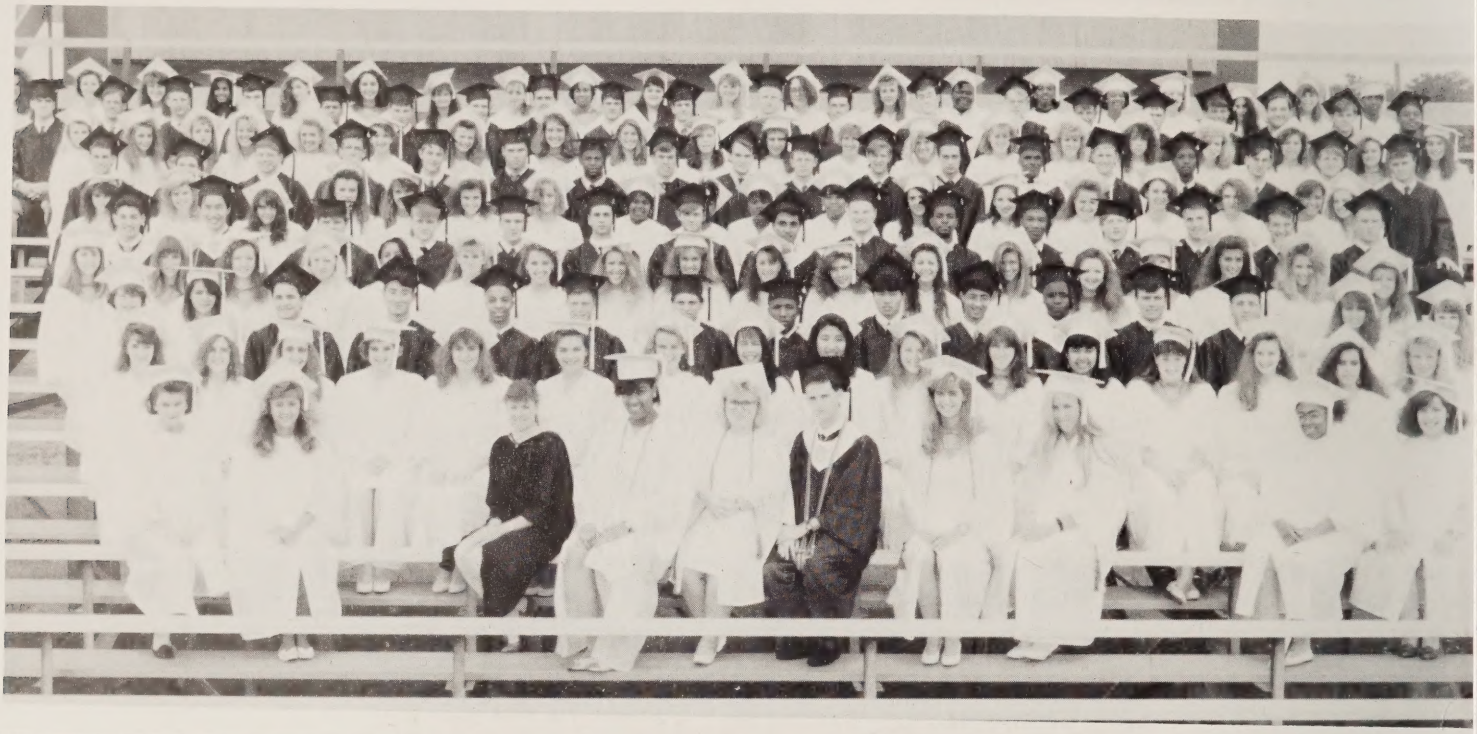
Manchester Memories Are

2B con tin ued . . .



Colophon

Work on this year's Memoir began very early this year when Editors-in-Chief Alison Chiu and Barbara Kumpf with advisor Tracey Wilbourne attended the Herff Jones' yearbook camp in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania for five days. During the latter part of the summer there was staff preparation for the ad campaign. This was just one of the many ways the staff helped towards the production of the yearbook.

The 1992 Memoir is Volume 54 of Manchester High School in Richmond, Virginia. It was printed by Herff Jones, Inc. of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. This edition ran 550 copies of 172 pages. It was printed on Bordeaux paper. The cover design was created by the Editors-in-Chief with adaptations by Herff Jones' art department. The cover and spine were silk-screened on Leather Tex Smoky Blue with applied color of Brilliant Orange #10. Name stamped and padded covers used HJ Gold. The end sheets are natural. The majority type is Times Roman. The type size of copy is 12 point, captions are 8 and 10 point, and headlines are varied sizes. 30% grey screens were also used.

The Co-Editors-in-Chief have many people to thank: Mrs. Wilbourne, sponsor, advisor, and friend; Mr. Smith, Herff Jones Representative; Mr. Jennings, Max Ward photographer; Mr. Jones, Principal; Mrs. League, Assistant Principal; the Library Staff; Mrs. Leyo, bookkeeper; Kumpf family, for driving everyone home; and the Memoir patrons.

We also must thank the staff for a great year and a great book. The section editors are: Jennifer Perry, financial manager; Kate Henson and Jershon Jones, Lancer Life; Nilou Tamaddon and Paul Vu, Academic; Jennifer Creger and Kalpana Shenoy, Seniors; Nicole Boo and Jade Waddell, Juniors; Shilpa M hajan and Allison Marsh, Sophomor Rebecca Fandrich, Freshman; Er Miller and Laura Wimmer, Sports; ice Chan and Amy Marsh, Clubs; Ale Atwood and Janet Marsh, Facul Molly Kent, Head Photographer. Al thanks to the photographers: Ben Aye Michelle Allen, Todd Bigley, An Morgan, Shawn Smith, and Trip Sm whose photographs are throughout tl book.
